

SAKI TTA: Factsheet

The National Sexual Assault Kit Initiative (SAKI) is a Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA)-led program that assists jurisdictions contending with unsubmitted sexual assault kits (SAKs). In 2015, 20 state and local jurisdictions were selected as SAKI sites; BJA funded 12 additional jurisdictions in 2016, 9 jurisdictions in 2017, and 13 jurisdictions in 2018. The SAKI Training and Technical Assistance (SAKI TTA) program, provided through RTI International, offers expertise and assistance to these and other jurisdictions as they establish effective and sustainable practices for collecting and processing forensic evidence, investigating and prosecuting sexual assault cases, and supporting survivors of sexual assault.

The SAKI TTA Team provides customized TTA to meet the needs of each SAKI site regarding investigations, prosecution, inventorying and tracking of SAKs, and victim advocacy engagement. Our team develops effective practices addressing sexual assault response and facilitating the sexual assault response team (SART) concept in communities, including those that have struggled with unsubmitted SAKs.

Project Activities

- ◆ Deliver TTA to address immediate needs
- ◆ Assess long-term needs to address strategic challenges and priorities
- ◆ Facilitate cross-site learning
- ◆ Develop TTA curricula and materials—on site and online—that align with policy and implementation needs
- ◆ Disseminate and assist with implementation of evidence-based practices

TTA Focus Areas and Partners

Multidisciplinary response:

SANE-SART Resource Service (SSRS)—Effective practices, including creating and maintaining a sustainable SART

Law enforcement:

International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP)—Identifying investigative steps to take after a Combined DNA Index System (CODIS) hit, prioritizing multiple CODIS hits, writing policy and procedure on investigative standards, collecting and handling evidence, and managing investigations

Prosecution:

AEquitas—Overcoming challenges associated with cold case prosecutions, training on witness preparation and questioning, and presenting sexual assault evidence at trial

Sexual assault nurse examiners (SANEs):

SSRS—Identifying needs, gaps, and challenges in the local SANE program and identifying the role of a SANE in sexual assault cases

Crime laboratory:

IACP, RTI International, and Dr. Rebecca Campbell—Linking crime laboratory information management systems with investigations and prosecutions, understanding DNA analysis, and prioritizing cold case evidence

Victim advocacy:

The Joyful Heart Foundation and The Rape, Abuse & Incest National Network (RAINN)—Support and training on cold case notification policy, advocacy training programs, and the roles and responsibilities of the victim advocate

Frequently Asked Questions

Q. Where can I find more information about applying for SAKI funding?

- A. The BJA website provides information on upcoming funding opportunities. Visit www.bja.gov/funding.aspx for details.

Q. How were grantees chosen to be SAKI sites?

- A. BJA has released competitive grant announcements under SAKI. State, local, and tribal law enforcement agencies; prosecutors' offices; and governmental non-law enforcement agencies acting as fiscal agents for these types of agencies were eligible to apply for funding. The period of performance for these awards is 36 months.

Q. How do I connect with SAKI TTA news and events?

- A. The SAKI TTALK newsletter offers an excellent communication channel for providing comprehensive information on project news and noteworthy happenings among stakeholders. Sign up to receive SAKI TTALK to your inbox at www.bit.ly/SAKI\_TTALK\_signup, and follow SAKI TTA on Facebook (@SAKInitiative) and Twitter (@SAKInitiative) for up-to-date project-related news and events!

Q. What types of activities are SAKI grantees allowed to conduct with SAKI funding?

- A. SAKI grantees are permitted to use grant funds to enhance or expand their ability to address the issues associated with unsubmitted SAKs in their jurisdictions. For example, grantees may use funding for testing SAKs (through the jurisdiction's assigned crime laboratory or through a private laboratory) or creating an evidence tracking system. SAKI funding may not be used for testing SAKs that have already been submitted to a laboratory or for purchasing laboratory equipment.

Q. How do I find out more about the SAKI TTA program?

- A. Please visit www.sakitta.org/. You will find information on the goals of the SAKI and SAKI TTA programs, grantee profiles for each SAKI site, training resources, and much more. Additional information is also available on the BJA SAKI website, www.bja.gov/ProgramDetails.aspx?Program\_ID=117.

Q. What types of training and technical assistance (TTA) are available?

- A. The SAKI TTA Team develops activities based on the needs of each site. The team works closely with each SAKI grantee to establish and provide TTA that will help the site to sustain a successful sexual assault investigation program. The SAKI TTA program offers live and archived webinars and training events that address the most pressing and emerging issues jurisdictions face when addressing unsubmitted SAKs. Some of these topics include building a multidisciplinary team to address unsubmitted SAKs, providing trauma-informed or victim-centered care, submitting and testing SAK evidence, and maintaining best practices for investigating sexual assaults.

Q. Who has access to TTA resources?

- A. SAKI grantees have access to customized TTA resources as part of their BJA funding; these resources are not available to the general public. However, the SAKI TTA Team also creates materials (e.g., guidelines, trainings, webinars) that showcase best practices and lessons learned and that are openly accessible to other jurisdictions and the public. To access these materials, check the SAKI TTA website, www.sakitta.org/.

Q. How do I request TTA?

- A. Submit a request by contacting the SAKI TTA Help Desk at sakitta@rti.org or (800) 957-6436.
